JUDGMENT AND ORDER

26-9-2013 The story of the case as alleged by the Petitioner in brief is that, the Petitioner and the Respondent have a son name Alexius Malsawmsanga without marriage on 16.6.2011. The Petitioner is looking after their minor son. The Petitioner, being unable to bear the burden of maintaining their child on her own, has approached this Court to order the Respondent to give a monthly maintenance of Rs.3000/- pm their minor child. The petitioner also submitted that the respondent is a constable, IR Bn posted in Assam and he has sufficient means to maintain their son but neglected to do so.

On 17/9/2013, the parties submitted that they had reached amicable settlement that the Respondent Lalmunkima will maintain their minor son Alexius Malsawmsanga @ Rs 1700/- per month. So, they pray the Court to make an order on the basis of their settlement. Their prayer is allowed and order is made on the basis of their settlement.

ORDER

The Respondent is hereby ordered to give maintenance allowance of Rs.1700/-pm to Alexius Malsawmsanga till he attains majority.

The maintenance allowance of the abovementioned minor child shall be given to whoever is in custody of her and since Smt.Lalthansiami, the Petitioner is presently in custody of her, the abovementioned allowance shall be given to her on his behalf until the minor child attains the age of majority or there is a change in custody.

The Respondent shall deposit the maintenance allowance to the Bank Account of the petitioner bearing State Bank Account No 33226237554 every month before 10th day of each month.

The maintenance allowance shall be payable from the date of this order.

With the above order, the case stands disposed off.
